Please note that there may be wait times for some services; we will contact you to arrange a Welcome Consultation session to discuss your service needs and options.

COUNSELLING*

We offer two forms of counselling at the Centre. Initial counselling often focuses on understanding and managing day-to-day symptoms related to the impacts of trauma. Clinical counselling involves exploring thoughts and feelings related to experiences of harm and healing from the impacts of these experiences.

* Please note the Centre offers counselling services to survivors of all gender expressions and identities through a feminist, anti-oppressive/anti-racist philosophy.

GROUPS and WORKSHOPS

The Centre offers different types of group programs for survivors of sexual violence, including educational, therapeutic and expressive arts programs.

ADVOCACY and ACCOMPANIMENT

We can support you through your interactions with the medical, hospital, police, court or legal systems. This can include going with you to provide emotional support at appointments, meetings with police, or court proceedings. We can also provide advocacy to help you understand these systems, know your options and access the services that you need.

CHECK IN CALLS and DROP IN SERVICES

You can access immediate supports through scheduled check-in calls and weekly drop in programming. Our trained volunteers will offer active listening, skills building for grounding and emotional regulation, and expressive arts skills. These services are overseen by our counselling team and can be helpful for clients who are waiting for other services.

If you are facing barriers to service, call us and we can help advocate for access to a compassionate anti-oppressive service response.
